

NOTICE OF LICENSE AND SOURCE CODE AVAILABILITY

Dear Customer / To Whom It May Concern,

You may have indirectly received from Actiontec Electronics hardware and / or software that contained, in part, some open source software. Specifically, Verizon and Qwest Corporation may have provided you Actiontec products that contained a version of BusyBox, an open source software program developed by third parties without any affiliation to Actiontec. Such products include the Actiontec MI424-WR wireless router distributed by Verizon and the GT701-WG DSL modem distributed by Qwest.

If you indirectly received BusyBox from Actiontec, we want you to know that you were granted a license to that software under the terms of the GNU General Public License, Version 2 ("GPL"; a copy of which is available from <http://www.fsf.org/licenses/info/GPLv2.html>). The GPL allows you to freely copy, modify and redistribute that software and no other statement or documentation, including any End User License Agreement, places any additional restrictions on what you may do with that software.

Further, for at least three (3) years from the date of this notification, we will give to any third party who contacts us at the contact information provided below, for a charge no more than our cost of physically performing source code distribution, a complete machine-readable copy of the corresponding source code for the version of BusyBox that we may have indirectly distributed to you.

Contact Information for Requesting Source Code

Actiontec Electronics, Inc.
4250 Buckingham Drive Suite #400
Colorado Springs, Colorado 80907-2705
Tel: 719-884-8306
Fax: 719-522-9618
Attn: GNU Code Requests

Email: gnuoderequests@actiontec.com
Attn: GNU Code Requests

We have also made that source code freely available to you and to any other member of the public via our website at: <http://opensource.actiontec.com>